2020 Rare Bleeding Disorders Conference
Application Guidelines

Please note applying for the Rare Bleeding Disorders Conference does not guarantee acceptance into the program.

You must fall within the following criteria to apply:

- You or a member of your family has FX (Factor 10) deficiency, FXIII (Factor 13) deficiency, FVII (Factor 7) deficiency, or Glanzmann’s thrombasthenia

Attendance will be prioritized based on the parameters outlined below:

- Priority: Individuals who are first time attendees
- Second priority: Individuals who are returning attendees

If the affected individual is 17 years of age and younger, you may apply for:

- The affected child (17 years of age and younger) and,
- Up to two of your child’s primary caregivers (including yourself) and,
- The affected child’s siblings that live with them.

O Siblings 18+ may not attend unless they are one of the primary caregivers.

If the affected individual is 18 years of age and older (a legal adult), they may apply for:

- One adult (spouse, significant other, friend, caregiver). This person must be involved in your day to day care.
- If the affected adult has children that live with them, they may bring all their children under the age of 18.

*Please note that once accepted, attendees will be required to attend all mandatory sessions at the Rare Bleeding Disorder Conference.
